Writing Sample

A School Board is concerned that the state's requirements for core courses in mathematics, English, science, and social studies may prevent students from taking important elective courses like music, other languages, and vocational education. The School Board would like to encourage more students to take elective courses and is considering two proposals.

- One proposal is to lengthen the school day to provide students with the opportunity to take elective courses.
- The other proposal is to offer elective courses in the summer.

Write a letter to the School Board in which you argue for lengthening the school day or for offering elective courses during the summer, explaining why you think your choice will encourage more students to take elective courses.
